Following a harrowing experience upon landing, he spent almost two years in a German POW camp. Lt. Cook discovered after the war that he was the sole survivor of this ill-fated Flying Fortress. 1 Session | Tuesday, June 4 | 5:30PM-Sunset | In-Person | Offsite (Port Royal)

Limited Enrollment - 25 First served registration

The focus of this course is to be as "one with birds" as possible. The Cypress Wetlands allows us just that! Bring your camera, even the one you carry in your pocket all day, and join us on the boardwalk for one of the best nature encounters available in the Lowcountry. There should be plenty of activity and beautiful light for you to see hundreds of birds - including hatchlings! We will start by talking about the different birds you may see in the rookery and how to find a good "subject" to stay with and observe. You will have a choice of venturing off on your own to discover the wonders of the wetlands or staying with Lucy for one-on-one instruction and tips to make your time fun and productive. There is a path that is paved, a wooden boardwalk, and dirt paths. You have a choice to stay on the wooden boardwalk or you can set off into the wetlands by staying on the marked path. Staying until the sun dips below the trees is suggested - it's beautiful!
